President Assails 'Calamity Howlers'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—President Wilson said his confidence in "calamity howlers" today when he indicated to callers at the White House that the nation understands it is the duty of "hard times" prophets to keep busy at all times.

The President approved himself as deeply pleased over the evident inclination of the business interests of the nation to conform to the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act, but declined to make specific statement on the business conditions of the country at the present time.

He was asked if he knew of any other corporations that were making ready to follow the voluntary dissolution move of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. He had none specifically in mind, he said, and reiterated his belief that business interests generally would adjust themselves to legal requirements.

Haines Says Cushing Barters For Votes

Representative Benjamin F. Haines of Massachusetts, today accused Speaker Cushing of bartering committee appointments for votes for the election of the House of Representatives.

"It seems to me that January 11 is too early a day, I should like to hear some discussion," Haines said.

Rev. A. H. Nazzari, pastor of the People's Temple, then introduced the following motion, which was unanimously adopted:

That the churches of Greater Boston be asked to observe the day of January 11 as "No-Corruption Day," and that every minister of the churches be urged to call special day of prayer in their own neighborhoods in this work.

Three-Year-Old Girl Saves Child's Life

Three-year-old Fannie Young of Lynn is being talked of today as a prospective recipient of a Carnegie medal. John Gordon, aged two, with whom she was playing in the second-story balcony of No. 14 Sticker street, climbed over the balcony and lost his grip. The little girl caught his dress and hung on at the risk of her own life, until screams brought assistance.

Harlem Barbers Attack Mustaches

Boston ministers have already announced enthusiastically endorsed the plan for a "Mustache Day."

The Rev. Dr. Dillon Irons, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Boston, said: "This 'No to Church' day is an excellent move. Everyone should get in touch with it. Let us put the churches right before the public, so that we can understand the usefulness of the day."

Print Your Machinery Want

That column headed "Machinery" in the American's "Want Ad" section is of mighty interest to many manufacturers.

Some piece of machinery that one has outgrown another finds immediate use for. Trading is active and profitable on both sides.

If the seller makes a sacrifice, he even things up when he becomes a buyer. And the seller of today is usually the buyer of tomorrow, for machinery must be replaced.

So, which ever side of the market you are on, it will pay you to put your want in print without delay. It will appear without delay if you leave it today with the American's "Want Ad" Stations, the Branch Office at 264 Washington Street, Main Office, 80 Summer Street, or

STOP BEAR BUTCHERY

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 21.—William J. Dyer, State agent for the Maine Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, today began an official investigation of the slaughter of bears in the region of Maine on Saturday.

Agent Dyer declared the knowledge of the slaughter of bears to be "senseless and cruel." He said he did everything possible to prevent the killing of the bear, but that it was carried out in spite of his efforts. He said he had been urged by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to make the animal from cruel treatment.

Agent Dyer has notified the authorities in Somerset County to stop the killing and to prosecute anyone if the evidence warrants.

Here is Agent Dyer's statement:

NOTIFIED BY AGENT.

"I received a letter from Chas. James R. Hathaway of the Massachusetts Society, dated December 12, calling my attention to the 'Knowles' plan to kill a bear as an exhibition. Mr. Hathaway asked me to prevent a spectacle which he termed cruel and brutal. The matter was referred to County Attorney Frederick W. Morrill of Franklin County.

"County Attorney Morrill wrote me that he was talking of today as a prospective recipient of a Carnegie medal. John Gordon, aged two, with whom she was playing in the second-story balcony of No. 14 Sticker street, climbed over the balcony and lost his grip. The little girl caught his dress and hung on at the risk of her own life, until screams brought assistance.

HAINES ENTERS BATTLE TO RECK TAXIDOL GRAFT

A bill aimed to hit the so-called "taxi graft" a head-on blow was filed at the State House today by Representative Haines of Bedford. It is claimed by independent taxidol men in Boston that $75,000 in paid to the Boston Police in taxidol concerns for private stand privileges and that an additional $25,000 is paid by some concerns that have no such privileges to bellhops, telephone operators and hotel clerks.

The Haines bill would put the granting of taxidol stands into the hands of city and town councils. Under the provisions of the bill the authorities could, at any time, revoke any permit for such a stand.

It is the claim of the Independent Auto-Cab Association, recently organized with thirty members, that most of the large hotels and private clubs have private taxi stands and prohibit the independents from even stopping at the entrances.

It is the further claim of the independents that having all taxi stands paid out the present rates in half.

The Haines bill says: "Owners of any property may apply to the local authorities for the establishment of a public taxi stand, standing adjacent to their premises, stating in said application the number of public taxis or autos which they desire to come to said stand. Such application shall be granted solely in the discretion of the local authorities and may be revoked at any time. No public vehicle shall stand at any stand created and designated in accordance with this act, adjacent to the curb of the sidewalk within fifteen feet of the entrance to any building located on the property adjacent to the stand."

"Only public vehicles in such number and of such kinds as are set forth by the authorities may remain at the stand while in use for employment, and only in single file in accordance with the traffic regulations."

EX-MAYOR W. T. SHEA OF QUINCY DEAD

William T. Shea, four times elected mayor of Quincy, died this morning at his home in that city. He had been in poor health for more than a year. Two weeks ago he was taken to his bed with acute indigestion. With heart disease caused his death.

Former Mayor Shea was one of the most progressive and aggressive men Quincy ever had. He held office for four years—longer than any other Mayor in the history of the city. His terms were consecutive.

Former Mayor Shea, known to his friends as "Boss" Shea, was the son of William Shea, a veteran of the Civil War, who resides in the West. The Mayor's father, presented by Queen Victoria. He came to Quincy in 1857, where he was born. It was there that he met his wife, Mrs. Quincy, the son entered the granite business and was successful.

Mr. Mayor Shea was elected to Quincy's first City Council, serving two terms. He was a member of St. Mary's C. C. and St. Francis' Society, Ave. Maria Council, K. C. Granite Manufacturers' Association, Quincy Board of Trade, Quincy Lodge, and the Granite City Club.

He is survived by four sisters, Miss Katherine Shea, Mrs. E. Lyons, Mrs. Anna Sullivan and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, and one brother, James Shea of Quincy.

REBELS IN VILLA, APPEAL TO HEARST

In a secret manner Rebel Leader Villa expels under penalty of death over 400 Spanish merchants of the State of Chihuahua, at present in this city.

There are still in the State of Chihuahua over 100 Spanish subjects, all honest men devoted to the business trade, respected and considered by the Chihuahua community.

They always complied with the duties of foreigners respecting the laws of Mexico. They never made any propaganda against the government nor did they start any revolution. They always were impartial. They never made their politics known. The English consul in charge, in the absence of the Spanish consul was unable to resist the attack of Villa.

Our Minister at Washington is working very hard to protect the lives of those who are still in the State of Chihuahua, and also to protect their interests through the American consul.

Knowing your humanitarian sentiments, we appeal to you, requesting you to do all you can in our behalf among your acquaintances and through your important papers, and we thank you for your good services.

At a general meeting of the Spaniards who have been expelled a general committee was appointed to sign the present telegram in the name of the Spanish colony of Chihuahua.

(Signed) THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

CURRENCY BILL BEING DRAFTED BEFORE NIGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The administration's currency bill probably will be enacted into law before night. The last obstacles in its path were swept away at a long night session of the House and Senate conference, which ended at 3 a. m. The only action necessary to make the measure a law is acceptance by the two houses of the conference report and President Wilson's signature.

Important action was taken by the conferees in the closing hours of their long session in which they were aided by the advice of Secretary of the Treasury, Woodrow Wilson. The House conferees triumphed on two big points of difference when an agreement was reached to drop the provision providing for the guarantee of national bank deposits and to eliminate the clause permitting the use of reserve notes as reserves of membership banks.

A compromise was reached on a matter that has caused bitter fighting when it was agreed that the Comptroller of the Currency shall be a member of the Federal Reserve Board, but that the Secretary of Agriculture shall not serve on the board. The House conferees also agreed to these made ex-officio members of the board, and the Senate conferees agreed to these made ex-officio members of the board.

The question of raising two per cent on the bonds was dropped and it was finally decided to retire $100,000,000 of the old currency and issue of the new system, $250,000,000 of the new currency. The bill shall be taken over from national banks by reserve banks.

For one-half of the bonds so taken, the government will issue new bonds of the same amount. The new currency will be issued in the form of national bank notes, and the government will issue new bonds of the same amount.

YOUNG CURTIS FIRED: FATHER WEEPS IN COURT

LOUIS F. CURTIS, the sixteen-year-old Newton Highlands youth, who was given a suspended jail sentence last week for "shooting up" five electric light globes in Newton, today pleaded guilty in the Boston District Court to a charge of interfering with a fire alarm in the town of Wellesley. He paid a $10 fine.

The names of Curtis' three companions on the night of the "Wild West" auto dash through Wellesley and Newton came out in court today. They were Hugh and George Richardson and Roland Miller, all of Wellesley. The trio were accused on the fire alarm charge, pleaded nolo and each paid a $10 fine.

Curtis is the son of Thomas F. Curtis, a wealthy wool dealer. The father was in court today and before the hearing wept while his son tried to comfort him. The case was dropped before counsel for the son reached the courtroom.

In the Newton court Curtis, last Friday, pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting at and breaking electric light globes. The police records showed that young Curtis, who owns a highpowered car, had twice been fined for auto violations.

Frank H. Rand Is Buried in Lowell

Funeral services for Frank H. Rand, late mayor of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, were held at his home, No. 1314 Beacon street, Brookline, today, at 10 o'clock. A second service was held in the cemetery chapel at Lowell, where interment took place. In New York, a guard of honor from the West Coast escorted the body across the city, and in Boston it was received by members of the family.

Ohio Leaves 20 of Crew in Pest Camp

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Having left more than a score of her crew in the pest camp at Guantanamo, Cuba, the battleship Ohio reached the Charleston, S. C., Navy Yard, today, advised to Navy department officials.

The Ohio will be thoroughly fumigated and quarantined to rid her of all traces of smallpox before she is permitted to relieve the Michigan in Mexican waters.

PRESIDENT OFF TONIGHT: XMAS VACATION

Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, his daughters, the Misses Margaret and Eleanor, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the President will depart from Washington at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow night, according to his present plans, and will arrive on the Gulf coast Christmas morning.

He probably will spend about three weeks at Pass Christian, Miss., where a ten-room house has been engaged for him. President Wilson expects to keep his Southern sojourn free of all executive business, although the impression prevails that he will devote considerable thought to the creation of the machinery for putting the currency bill into effect, including his selection of members of the federal reserve board.

He will return to Washington in time to hold the first of the formal Washington social functions, the diplomatic reception at the White House January 13.

SCHUMANN-HEINK, OPERA STAR, FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heink. Mrs. Schumann-Heink.

As long ago as January, 1912, the divorce plans were rumored, but the rumor came to nothing. The singer to her suit charges desertion and states that she and Hark were married in 1905. This is her third marriage and her last, she declared today.

The quarrel between Hark and the diva, it is said, has resulted directly from her devotion to her children. At the time the divorce was first rumored, Hark was charged with desertion. The singer's six sons, she said, "Mother's love for her children and Hark's love for the dollar caused the separation between them and is back of this talk of a divorce."

Repp, in an interview declared that the singer was giving too much money to her children.

"I told her so, and she replied: 'I can never give too much to my children. It is the oft-repeated story of an artist cannot be the mother of children and be an ideal mother.'"

3 Hurt in $150,000 Fire in Worcester

WORCESTER, Dec. 21.—A fire which threatened to wipe out the retail business district was discovered in the seven-story store of the C. Y. Hersh Company department store at Front and Commercial streets, and caused a loss of $150,000. A death or more persons of the Commercial street building barely escaped by the rear entrance.

FORMER MAYOR GREEN SENDS CHEER FOR ALL

EX-MAYOR Samuel Green, Boston's "Grand Old Man," from his apartment on Beacon street, has sent a Christmas message of cheer and encouragement to the people of Boston. When a reporter called upon him, the former Mayor was busy with his books in his cozy quarters.

A message from me to the people of Boston? Well, well—and the fire chief's lighted up in harmony with his happy laugh—"What can I say that would be of interest? You see I am no longer an 'out-and-about' as I used to be, but a quiet, unobtrusive 'what-ifs.' I have been back to town to change my voting registration. I lived and voted fifty years in the old City district and I am happy there. I lived among the people and the children. I loved them and I think they loved me. They said so, anyway, many times, when the little mice called to me. We after met with the accident which has laid me up ever since."

Boston is a fine old city. When I was mayor it had grown rapidly. Boston is the city that has grown rapidly. Boston is the city that has grown rapidly. Boston is the city that has grown rapidly.

WHAT SOCIETY PEOPLE IN THE HUB ARE DOING

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Mrs. Hertha Cushing Child, who is always to the fore in doing the things which count most for the needy, has arranged for "Christmas Wails" to come in and sing Christmas carols at the dinner of the Women's City Club given at the Hotel Somerset this evening at 8.30. Mrs. Child is always interested in club and social work and with her wonderful talent as a vocalist helps many an affair along to success which otherwise might be a failure.

The date set for the wedding of Miss Helena Meredith of Jamaica Plain to Dr. Louis Hopewell Bauer of Washington, D. C. is December 27. The ceremony will take place in the Central Congregational Church, Jamaica Plain. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irving Meredith, and the granddaughter of the Rev. H. R. Meredith, D. D., formerly of Boston, now of Pasadena, Cal. She is a charming girl and graduate of Wellesley College in 1912. Dr. Bauer is a graduate of Harvard and of the Harvard Medical School. After the wedding a reception will take place at the home of the bride, No. 79 Bedford street, Jamaica Plain.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce J. Allen have deserted their town house and during the holiday season are at their summer home at Beverly Cove.

Mr. Gordon Dexter, who only recently arrived from Italy with many hospitalities in busy for Christmas, is a welcome for her upon her arrival from so long an absence.

The second performance of "The Savitry," the old English mystery play adapted and arranged by Arno Hates, is given again this afternoon in Copley Hall at 8 o'clock. It will be given tomorrow for the last time at the same place.

Slayer May Plead "Unwritten Law"

LOW ANGLETER, Cal., Dec. 22.—J. M. Glover, a wealthy and prominent resident of this city who last night shot and killed Daniel Williams, a local war hero and divorced husband of Mrs. Glover, declared today that he felt would ever commit the crime of murder. The killing took place in the Glover home and there were rumors today that Glover would plead the "unwritten law."

"Poco" Bennett Buried in Dedham

The funeral of Edward "Poco" Bennett of Dedham, Mass., took place today. The body was taken from the Bennett home, No. 25 Allen street, West End, to the synagogue Beth Israel, Hahatim place, North End. Following the services the body was taken to Dedham, where the interment took place.

BAD TURKEY IN FREEZERS, SAYS CASSIDY

By HARRY F. CASSIDY.

The day before last Thanksgiving I wanted you to beware of the cheap Thanksgiving turkey. I repeat this warning for the Christmas season.

Of course, the unprecedented warm weather about Thanksgiving time had something to do with the scattering of so many turkeys.

The manufacturers of shippers had a great deal more to do with it. They have since November 25, thousands of tons of turkeys were sent all over the country.

The Boston Board of Health acted with commendable quickness and commenced thousands of turkeys. But such things might not be better.

Many tons of those spotted turkeys went to the fertilizer plants. Government inspectors assert that not a single pound of this kind of turkey would have been wasted if shippers and retailers followed proper methods of selling, dressing, storing and cooking.

There is a grave danger, Thanksgiving. At that time many of the turkeys remained uncooked and they are to water. Not within the cold storage warehouses, many of these birds for food, convenience of shippers were put into cold storage until the Christmas season.

You will see some of them today in some of the cheaper markets in the market district. There is one of the great abuses of cold storage. Reputable manufacturers should produce more strongly than you or I.

But turkey is not cold storage. It is a bird that ought to be turned into fertilizer. Look out that you don't get one of those birds handed to you for your Christmas dinner.

Go to a reputable dealer. Pay the fair price. You will have it in your pocket. You will have it in your pocket.

CHRISTMAS CREDIT Notice to Public

To the Women I sincerely wish you the happiest Christmas of your lives. If you do not happen to have the ready money to buy necessities or gifts this season I hope that my ORDER CHECK will be the means of securing credit for you on anything you need at the Big Stores or other Shops at the regular cash prices.

If you have not yet availed yourself of the advantages of my modern credit system and now need credit, please call and I will be honored and pleased to tell you how you can make your purchases in the regular way at your favorite stores and pay me one dollar a week until your bill is paid.

My Credit arrangement with the big department and other stores is absolutely the most inexpensive convenience ever devised for the benefit of the public, and for this reason we have built by far the greatest credit establishment ever known in New England.

To the Men May you be happy and able to make others happy this Christmas is my best wish for you. I have arranged, as you must know by this time, to sell the Standard Brands of Clothing to you on credit—high class Men's Suits and Coats that are being advertised in the magazines and Boston newspapers. My agreement with the makers of this clothing is that I shall charge not one cent more for it than the cash stores charge. I have always kept my agreement. When you see in the newspapers well-known brands of the best clothing advertised at bargain prices and you do not happen to have the price at that time—see me.

CAUTION!

The great popularity of the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for almost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for.

Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S.

We are inserting this caution solely to protect our consumers, who are constantly writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they purchased thinking they were WRIGLEY'S.

HAIL LANGFORD NEW CHAMPION OF GLOVE MEN

For the first time in several years the Morningside Heights boys are considering the advisability of putting a green man in the stroke section of the shell. This is because the unknown of the new men developing in a manner the managers of rowing are blindly hoping for the Blue and White crew will be in a day and a night. It is to be true that the small but three for this year's eight, and the prospects for good material seem rather remote to the managers who have made a case for the rowing team. It is to be true that just upon what material they can depend when the call for practice goes up. Of this number, none can satisfy Coach Rice's idea of what a stroke can

Colgate Makes Radical Change

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Word has been received that the English Lawn Tennis Association will submit several changes in the playing rules to the International Lawn Tennis Federation, which body meets in March. They wish to have new regulations which is a wide divergence with the present code. The rule advocated, if adopted, will be necessary for the server to replace the foot raised from the ground as a service, behind the baseline before stepping into the court, instead of swinging into the court with the right foot once the service is completed.

This change would have the effect of slowing up a player who follows his service with a rush for the net and since a large proportion of English players advocate the deep court style, the change would be less detrimental to the English game.

A number of changes in the rules governing the Davis Cup play, also put forward by the English, though England lost the possession of the International trophy last year, would slow down the playing of Davis Cup matches on turf or natural or artificial grass material, which appears more likely to be used than the present carpet.

Another proposed change would be to allow a player competing for one country to play for another country, as represented in his first Davis Cup Play-off. The powers of the referee are also increased by the suggestion that the referee should be able to rule on technical alterations, which lends more weight to his decisions in the winter days when they were not proposed.

This will be a radical change at Colgate. The matter will come up for discussion after the holiday vacation.

Johnson Would Fight in Mexico

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — Tommy Burns, Pelky's manager, says he has received a letter from Jack Johnson offering to meet his man at Tijuana, just over the Mexican line separating Southern California from Huerta's troubled country. As Johnson cannot return to the United States he will have to make a roundabout trip to reach this little Mexican town. Maybe, however, Burns is trying to boom Pelky's bout with the Gunboat.

Blow in Ring Is Fatal to Boxer

LONDON, Dec. 22.—"Jimmy" Burrows, a lightweight boxer, died here after a fight with George Freeman at the Judean Athletic Club. He was attacking when he collapsed and fell unconscious. He was removed to hospital, where he died. Freeman had not struck Burrows for some time before the latter's collapse.

Williams to Play Princeton Next Fall

WILLIAMSTOWN, Dec. 23.—William will play Princeton in football next season. The game with the Tigers will come at Princeton early in October, taking the place of Harvard on the Purple schedule.

The conditions named by Harvard for the annual game with William for next year called for an unsatisfactory guarantee and a date that was too early in the season to suit William.

Another new team which William will face next Fall is Trinity College of Hartford, Ct Manager Hall of the William eleven will announce

Virginia to Play Yale in Football

NEW HAVEN, Ct. Dec. 22.—While the Yale football schedule will not be formally announced until after New Year's, it was learned tonight that all the games but one have been tentatively decided upon. The schedule will include: University of Maine at Lehigh, Washington and Jefferson University of Virginia. Colgate and Princeton will play at Harvard the same, except that with Princeton will be played here. The only game undecided, it is understood, is the one between Princeton and Harvard. Princeton declined to meet the Blue. Trinity, which was offered Wesleyan's place, has also declined. Oxford, which has no change, is Harvard, taking the place of Lafayette.

A THRILLING STORY OF SOCIETY'S BLACKMAILERS

From the play by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, as adapted by the author for the stage, 'The Blackmailer'.

The captain kept the situation easy, steady, a matter of mere differing opinions. "These mistakes professional detectives make, chief, is to imagine a mystery in everything that isn't a B. C. to them right off the reel."

The captain started again, and Tommy came in. A certain distinction seemed to have taken place in the boy's attire. He was as if he had been set aside in a room, and, suddenly, placed in a room. "No, sir," answered the boy. "I don't like to see you again, sir."

"That's been here tonight?" then asked the detective. For the briefest second the boy bested and Halloway caught his eye. "What's his name?" "What's his name?" "I don't know," he said at last in a breathless tone. "The chief looked for a flickering moment from the soldier to the boy. 'This is come before or after I was here?' asked Halloway in the matter. The chief betrayed surprise. 'Halloway had been here—well, he was here. About the same time. Captain!'

"No, you, chief, but the boy said 'I was here' at home." Then address the boy, he continued in a perfectly pleasant tone. "And I'll bet you 'I was here' at home. 'I didn't come'—he said you said to see you again, sir. 'I didn't come'—he said you said to see you again, sir."

The chief looked thoughtfully at Halloway. Later they would both remember Tommy's admission. The captain continued his questioning. "But who was the other man who came after I did?" "I don't know, sir." "Ah, yes, you do. Out with it! His name?" "The chief," answered Tommy. "What did he want?" Tommy bested him. "He wanted to see you again, sir." "Sure, chief." "Please don't let me hear of this in the drawer, then."

ON THE RACK Chief Halloway opened the letter and smiled with a frosty twist of his grimace. Now that it was too late for the surprise of it, he found it was too late for the surprise of it. "The chief was smiling at the thought of his detective Halloway's by a sister's hand."

"Who killed your uncle?" he shot at Tommy with startling suddenness. "I don't know, sir. He called me—I was in jail." "What time?" "About eleven, I think—I opened the door and answered." "And then?" went on the inquisitor. "I hurried down—and uncle was dead." The boy sobbed out some of his father's lessons. "Then I opened the window and called 'police.'"

"The third degree continued. 'How long after you heard your uncle calling did you get home?' 'About half a minute.' 'And you're sure there was nobody here at all?' 'No, sir,' answered the frightened boy with certainty. He wondered, duly, if they would try to fasten the crime on him—why, if he had owed his Uncle Jack, he was alone now—surely they could not intend taking him off to the prison."

High Spots in Busy Life of Mayor Fitzgerald

By RICHARD F. (DICK) FIELD.

COLUMBIA 115.

I shall not attempt in this series to write a complete and chronological record of the brilliant career of John F. Fitzgerald. I will leave that task for the distant future and today will touch upon the Mayor's political fights.

He was married in 1911 to Mary Josephine Hanon of Acton. She was of a retiring disposition, but was in full accord with her husband's wishes to enter politics. She was very devoted to him, and he cherished her like a jewel. They started housekeeping in a little house on Garden Court street.

I don't think that it is any violation of confidence if I tell you this little story of the Mayor's life. The morning of his wedding day he was very busy. He had a dozen things or more to do, and when in the early afternoon he was astounded to learn that it was so late. Dr. Frank Bussy was to go to Acton with him for the wedding. John dashed into the house—he lived at that time on the lower end of Hanover street, near Commercial—and grabbed his dress suit and made for the door. Dr. Bussy had a hack waiting, and on the way to the North Station John changed his clothes and donned his tuxedo suit. When they were seated in the train Dr. Bussy remarked that John needed a shave. "I didn't forget that detail," replied John. "I brought the shaving kit with me." And on the way to Acton the future Mayor shaved.

POLITICAL ARGUMENTS.

John began his political career at a little trunk and general store run by Tim Murphy on Hanover street, opposite St. Stephen's church. It was a meeting place for the young men, and many a political argument has been held in front of the store or on Commercial street. When we were old enough to have entered to the society of voters we took our places at Tim Murphy's. In the summer time we would put two or three benches on to the sidewalk and then proceed to settle the big political problems of the country. Tim is still at the old stand. He too, has moved from the North End, but retains the store.

The year that John was in the council he secured a big appropriation for the North End Park. As a boy he had been fond of play in the street and run over rough cobblestones. He was very proud when the appropriation was passed.

But he learned that the American Express Company had purchased some land adjoining the property to be used as a park and that a statue was to be erected. "The statue will be erected," said John to me when he heard about it. He organized a protest committee which went to City Hall to see the Mayor. The committee was such a big one and John's argument was so convincing that the mayor's secretary withdrew his petition to build the statue.

stable. Perhaps this was his first real victory.

CHIEF OF SENATE.

In 1912 he was elected to the State Senate after a hard fight against George F. McMahony. He remained in the Senate two years and had a brilliant record. I will tell of his record in that body tomorrow. His election to the Senate filled us all with pride and joy. While in the Council he had been the chief of the North End, and now he was the chief of the State Senate.

All of the improvements in the North End are due directly to the efforts of John. The members acted together and usually got what they went after. The night that John was declared elected to the Senate was a gala one. There were more than a thousand men and boys following him, and every one had a room. It is said that many a boy had much to answer for when he arrived home.

There is one cardinal virtue that the Mayor has, and that is his word. He never makes a promise unless he knows he can keep it. When a man is active in politics he must be loyal to those who support him. For twenty-two years the boyhood friends of the Mayor have stood by him.

DELUCCA SIGNS TO MEET CHICK CHRISTMAS DAY

By JACK CONWAY.
Paisy DeLuca, the third North End welterweight, was today matched to clash with Joe Chick of Gloucester in a twelve-round bout to take place before 15,000 fans at the New Bedford arena on Christmas day.

Between Rounds

By RINGSIDE.
KID DELUCA says he is willing to meet Kid Frazier before any New England club in the world.

TO Frazier Frazier is really anxious to meet him. He will not have to look for an opponent, as Johnny O'Brien of Hudson says nothing would suit him better than a tussle with Frazier for the Eastern-champ championship of the Highland district.

EDDIE MURPHY will complete his training tomorrow for his twelve-round encounter with Steve Kennedy, which will be held here on Christmas day.

JACK JOHNSON will be in the ring with Sam Langford. The heavyweight "Big Boy" has been named for the fight.

TERRY BROOKS has been matched to meet Terry Smalley in two six-round bouts in Portland, Christmas day.

Melrose Will Play Arlington at Night

Arlington and Melrose High hockey teams will open the Intercollegiate League season at the Arena on the evening of January 2. Originally the game had been scheduled in the afternoon, but because of the intense rivalry between the schools and the fact that many business men are anxious to see the game, the evening date was decided upon.

Alter Plans on Cup Defender at Bristol

BRISTOL, R. I., Dec. 22.—Construction of the Vanderbilt syndicate cup defender, for which the keel was moulded a week ago last Friday, is held up and important changes of hull are planned, including the remodeling of the keel in the way of building it up almost a foot higher than it is at present, the altering of corresponding points, the discarding of a number of the girders that have been made and the eliminating of inside bulkhead.

MANY NAMES SUGGESTED FOR CUP DEFENDER

Patriotic names predominate in the list of letters received by the managing editor of the AMERICAN from readers who are selecting names for the cup defender. For example, Mrs. Amy Rose of No. 18 Hickney avenue, Somerville, suggests these names for the defender: The America, The Yankee, Old Glory.

From the number of letters received it is easy to see that the contest is arousing great interest. Of course, there are bound to be repetitions of names, but that is all right. Doubtless the names finally selected by the owners of the yachts will correspond with the names most favored by the readers of the AMERICAN.

For the sake of convenience, the three boats have been numbered on the coupon as they were ordered from the designers.

By P. H. Conner, a Baltimore Charter Club member: The America, The Yankee, Old Glory.

By J. H. Conner, a Baltimore Charter Club member: The America, The Yankee, Old Glory.

CARLISLE WILL NOT PLAY GREEN
TEAM NEXT FALL

CARLISLE, Dec. 33.—Dartmouth and Carlisle are unlikely to meet on the gridiron next fall. This became known today when Coach Warner arrived back here after several weeks' absence.

The Indians have received an invitation from Dartmouth for a game to be played at Hanover, N. H., but owing to the long trip and probable small financial return, Carlisle has turned down the offer.

The Indians would have welcomed a Dartmouth game in either New York or Boston, but owing to faculty restrictions upon the number of out-of-town games, Dartmouth could offer only a game upon the home grounds.

Coach Warner said that as neither the Carlisle students nor alumni are likely to contribute anything to the support of athletics, and as no admission fee is charged for home contests, all money needed for the support of the team must be raised from the gate receipts of out-of-town games, and it is necessary, therefore, to arrange the Indians' schedule so that the financial return will equal the amount needed to maintain the school's athletics.

He said he thought there would be little difficulty in arranging a paying game to take the place of the Dartmouth contest.

Swampscott High Wants Hockey Team

There is a movement under way at Swampscott High School to organize a hockey team. Coach Abbott, and several of the football and basketball players are the originators of the plan. The school has ever been known for its football and basketball, and there is no reason why it should not have a hockey team. The idea is to start a team this fall, and it is hoped that the school will be able to field a team in the state league.

WOOD LEADING UPTON IN BIG POOL CONTEST

Wood and Upton will clash in the second block of their big pool match at Black Murray's White Bear tonight. Upton is the New England champion, but he was beaten by Wood in the first block last night by a score of 150 to 124.

It was originally planned to play blocks of 20 points, but as both players agreed, it was elected to play 100-point blocks for the first two nights and make the final block on the third night one of 300 points.

Upton's game last night was replete with excellent work on the part of both players. Wood, in particular, executed some wonderfully fine shots and played a more steady and headier game. Twice Wood ran out the 100-point frame of fifteen balls without a miss. This played at the old style broke the frame was run lower for the frame was run.

"No, I will not tell you my name. I don't want to disgrace my children."

AT this time of each year people like to contribute toward gladdening the hearts of the ill, unfortunate and destitute all over the world where Christmas is observed. No class of people respond quicker to the call for help than people of the stage. Contrary to the general impression that actors, performers and musicians are forced by their managers to contribute their services, they really suggest benefits and volunteer their services gladly. How nobly they have aided the Hearst newspapers in raising Christmas funds is known to thousands.

Many a darkened home has been brightened by people of the stage who made themselves happy while doing it.
